This past week the Chesapeake Bay Croquet Club in Hartfield held the 2018 Southeast Regional 6-Wicket Croquet Tournament. 32 top notch players from nine states came to CBCC to compete for the title of Southeast Regional Champion. When the smoke cleared from 4 days of intense play, Calvert Chaney from Maryland edged out Macey White from Virginia in the last turn of play in the title game Sunday afternoon for the singles crown. Calvert hit in with a long shot from the boundary and two-balled 4 wickets to take the win with no time left on the clock. In doubles play, the team of Donna Dixon from California and Rick Sheely from Minnesota won the doubles crown over Macey White and Richard Sullivan of Florida.

The weather was warm and sunny all week and the 8 manicured lawns were dead flat and moderately fast. The next tournament at CBCC will be the Virginia State 6-wicket Championship June 29 to July 1. Also, CBCC will host the 2018 United States Croquet Association National 6-wicket Championship in October.
